

REVENUE EMPLOYEES FORM ASSOCIATION

Adopt Constitution and By-laws After Spirited Debate.

EXTEND MEMBERSHIP TO ALL IN SERVICE

Would Change Method of Deputy Collectors Giving Bond. Sessions Tomorrow.

The Internal Revenue Association was organized today by delegates representing employees in the service in thirty-six revenue districts. The adoption of the constitution was marked by a sharp debate over the scope of the association, but it was finally determined that the organization should be, as its name indicates, for the employees of all classes in the service.

Both the committee which wrote the constitution and by-laws and the other delegates were practically unanimous in favor of making all collectors, clerks, messengers, gaugers, storekeepers, and their subordinates eligible, and the opposition came almost wholly from National Secretary Howard of the association of gaugers and storekeepers. Mr. Howard said that his years in the service of the gaugers and storekeepers' association had shown him that an amalgamation of the employees' organizations in all branches of the service was not feasible. Strong argument was made against his statement, however, and the presence of numerous storekeepers and gaugers was a prevailing argument against him.

Would Change Giving Bond.

George L. Crapsey, chief deputy collector at Cincinnati, presided at this morning's meeting, held in G. A. R. Hall, on Pennsylvania avenue, near Fourteenth street, northwest, and J. William Shaeffer, secretary to the collector at Baltimore, was secretary. The report of the committee on constitution and by-laws—George L. Crapsey, George A. Wood, of Boston; A. L. Conitor, of Newark; Mr. Shaeffer, and William B. Stratton, of Cincinnati—afforded the business of the day, and was adopted practically as read to the delegates.

It was said today that a chief purpose of the association would be a rearrangement by which deputy collectors, who are under the civil service, would give bonds to the Secretary of the Treasury, instead of to the collectors. That change, it was said, would make the tenure of the deputies more stable.

Sessions Again Tomorrow.

The session of the delegates was continued this afternoon after a recess, and will be resumed tomorrow, when it is expected that officers will be elected in making the organization permanent.

The delegates were enthusiastic over their meeting today. They represent States from every section of the country, and believe that their organization will result in a more fraternal spirit, and in more concerted efforts for their welfare. They were especially pleased with the decision to make membership open to all employees of the Internal Revenue Service, in which there are more than 3,000 eligible.

IN THE SENATE.

The debate over the Cummins resolutions to change the rules went over until Tuesday. Senator Gallinger introduced a number of District bills including one to amend the charter of the medical society of the District of Columbia.

REQUEST ARRANGED FOR VICTIM OF CAR

Mrs. Anna Edmonds Fatally Injured At Fifth and F Streets Northwest.

At the District Morgue tomorrow Coroner Nevitt will hold an inquest over the body of Mrs. Anna Edmonds, who died last night in the Emergency Hospital from injuries received by being struck by a car at Fifth and F streets northwest.

Mrs. Edmonds was dragged several yards before the motorman could bring the car to a stop. She was picked up unconscious. While she was being taken to the Emergency Hospital in an automobile by John Collins, she recovered sufficiently to give her name and address, 23 Sixth street northeast. Collins, who is an electrician contractor, was surprised to learn that the woman was the mother of his stenographer. The accident occurred in front of his office, 64 Fifth street, about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Edmonds had just alighted from the car, and was walking along the tracks which make a curve from Fifth into F street, as the car swung around, the rear end struck her. She was dragged by the skirt for some distance. Mrs. Edmonds was fifty-six years old, a widow, and the mother of eleven children.

PUBLIC HIGHWAY IS NOT FAVORED

Commissioners Stand for Yard on Old B. & O. Right-of-Way.

Accompanied by a letter to Representative S. W. Smith, chairman of the House District Committee setting forth their reasons, the Commissioners have forwarded to Congress an unfavorable report on the bill directing that the old right-of-way of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Seventh and K streets northeast, be reserved for use as a public highway.

The right-of-way is now used by the District as a property yard, the establishment of which resulted in numerous protests on the part of residents of northeast Washington. A hearing was granted the protesters at which it was claimed that the value of surrounding property was depreciated by the location of the yard. The Commissioners, however, decided that the proposed use was most advantageous to public interests.

The bill for the abandonment of the yard providing that it be reserved for an avenue was then introduced in Congress. In reporting on this measure the Commissioners say there is no need for a thoroughfare over the old right-of-way south of K street, and it was for this reason, and the additional reason that the District was in need of a property yard, that the right-of-way was not set aside for street purposes. The property yard is 600 feet in length. Contracts have been awarded for the construction of a brick wall, so as to effectually screen the yard from the street.

APPROVE INCREASE FOR COMMISSIONERS

Citizens' Associations May Assist Board of Trade—Cooperation Recommended.

The movement to secure an increase in the salaries of the District Commissioners from $5,000 to $7,500 a year has met with instant approval among citizens of the District generally. Not only the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade, but citizens' associations are planning to add their votes in approval.

The executive committee of the East Washington Citizens' Association will hold a meeting one day this week to plan for the regular monthly meeting of the association a week from tomorrow. The committee is expected to discuss plans for assisting the joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade which will commence its work at the Capitol this week and recommend co-operation to the whole association.

Other citizens' associations are planning to do the same thing, and the Federation of Citizens' Associations is then to act. William McK. Clayton, president of the federation, explained that as soon as one of the bodies in the federation had acted upon the question, a special meeting could be called to take action. The opinion is freely expressed today that the Commissioners were too modest in putting into their estimates an increase in salary to only $5,000. It is contended that $7,500 is little enough to pay the chief executives of a city which is the Capital of the Nation, and the fight in Congress will be waged for the latter figure.

NOTABLE PAINTINGS ON EXHIBITION

American Artists' Work the Feature At Corcoran Gallery Opening.

When the third biennial exhibition of contemporary American Oil Paintings opens at the Corcoran Gallery tomorrow the public will have the opportunity of viewing the most notable collection of paintings by living American artists ever exhibited.

For weeks past the gallery has been undergoing a transformation as preparations for the present exhibition were under way. Every painting of the gallery's permanent collection was taken from its hanging place, wrapped and stored in the basement of the gallery in order to make room for the pictures submitted by artists from all parts of the country for the third biennial exhibition. The entire third floor of the gallery is now given over to works of art by living painters, and the exhibition will be open to the public until January 22. The pictures are well hung and lighted and make a carnival of color. In portraiture the exhibition is especially strong, and portraits of many men eminent in public life are shown. Mac Cameron exhibits a portrait of President Taft and other portrait painters represented are Cecilia Beaux, William Chase, Wilhelm Funk, John Sargent, and George De Forest Brush. Portraits are exhibited by many painters known also for their landscape painting. Among the well-known nature painters exhibiting are Charles Warren

Easton, Leonard Ochtman, Edward W. Redfield, Daniel Garber, Childs Haslam, Ben Foster, Jules Guerin, and many others. Prizes amounting to $5,000, donated by former United States Senator William A. Clark, have been awarded as follows: First prize—$2,000 and Corcoran gold medal to Edmund C. Tarbell, for his picture entitled "Interior." Second prize—$1,500, accompanied by the Corcoran silver medal, awarded to Gari Melchers, on his picture entitled "Penelope." Third prize—$1,000 and Corcoran bronze medal, awarded to Childs Haslam, on his exhibit entitled "Springtime." Fourth prize—$500 and Corcoran certificate of honorable mention, awarded to Daniel Garber, for his exhibit entitled "April Landscape." The jury on awards consists of F. D. Millet, chairman; P. V. von, Edward W. Redfield, William Sargent Kendall, and Lewis H. Meaking.

Constipation

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour, they do not gripe; they do not weaken, but they do start the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it. These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.
